

Intersect Studio is looking for:

Creatively focused activator and futurist.

Creative designer passionate about creating great places for people, eager to be an integral part of the growth and success of an emerging design firm.

Who we are:

Intersect Studio is an experience-focused strategy and design firm. We believe people's lifestyles improve when places are highly designed for experience. Our passion is creating places people love through a fun and engaging design process.

We are an experienced yet emerging design firm specializing in architecture, planning, strategy, and interior design that reflects our commitment to designing inspiring places for people.

This position could be for you if:

- You have a passion to not just live in the world but to make it better for everyone.
- You are capable of leading the design process on multiple, overlapping projects.
- You are motivated by expectations to bring the future into the present.
- You thrive on creative collaboration, working towards specific goals, taking on challenges and finding creative solutions.
- You believe in the power of New Urbanist principles to restore and build community.
- You enjoy sketching details and design concepts by hand and are proficient with AutoCAD and Sketchup. Revit and ArchiCAD experience is also welcome.
- You possess a bachelor degree in Architecture with at least a couple of years of full time experience working in a design studio.

What you can expect at Intersect:

Architectural Designer position responsible for developing the conceptual and schematic design both in architectural and site development projects. You will work closely with the principals and project managers in the studio and attend client meetings in the early phases of most projects. Our studio works hard to maintain a positive culture that celebrates successes and encourages one another towards continuous self improvement.
